Is said to be strong on the heat proposition — too strong if it comes very near us—still this isn't bothering some people so much as the question of getting the most heat out of the coal they burn all winter. CLEVELAND MAY CLAIM THREE CUPS

For Longest Flight and Landing Near Montreal.

New England Balloon Establishes Two New Records.

ST. HYACINTHE, Quebec, May 21. Two new records were established today, when balloon Cleveland, which ascended from North Adams last night, came down here at 6:28 this morning, after the longest flight ever made by a balloon from New England, and the first time that a balloon from New England has landed in Canada. The balloon traveled a distance of more than 200 miles in an air line, was in the air 11 hours, 52 minutes, and reached an altitude of 11,000 feet.

With A. Leo Stevens as pilot, and carrying Professor David A. Todd of Amherst College, Charles Somerville, a New York newspaperman, and H. P. Sherman of London, a Williams College junior, the balloon ascended from North Adams last night at 6:43. The principal object of the voyage was to secure data on Halley's comet, but, on account of the haze and the bright moon, the aeronauts were unable to make an observation.

This voyage makes the balloon a claimant for two cups—one offered by a newspaper of Montreal for the New England balloon landing nearest to that city, and the other by President Cortlandt Field Bishop of the Aero Club of America for the New England balloon making the longest flight. The previous long-flight record was made by William van Sleet, who covered a distance of 165 miles last summer, from North Adams to a town in Maine.

The balloon trip also makes the pilot claimant to a third cup, that which the Automobile Club of Canada offered two years ago, to the pilot starting from New England south of the latitude of North Adams, Mass., and landing in the province of Quebec, nearest to the city of Montreal.

THE COMET NOT SEEN.

Balloon Cleveland in Air Twelve Hours, and Travels 250 Miles.

AMHERST, Mass., May 21.—After traveling a distance of about 250 miles, balloon Cleveland, which ascended from North Adams at 6:43 last night, came down in a little hamlet in the province of Quebec, 36 miles south east of Montreal. This information was received by telephone today by Mrs. Mabel L. Todd, whose husband, Professor David A. Todd of Amherst College, ascended in the balloon with A. Leo Stevens, pilot; Charles Somerville, a New York newspaper man, and H. P. Sherman of London, a Williams College Junior. While the aeronauts succeeded in staying in the air for 12 hours, they were unsuccessful in the principal object of the trip—an observation of Halley's comet. The atmosphere was very hazy, and the light diffused through the mist by the moon made it impossible to catch a glimpse of either the nucleus or the tail of the celestial visitor.

Three New Yorkers Make Ascension in Balloon Pittsfield.

PITTSFIELD, Mass., May 21.—The three New York men who failed to go up in balloon Cleveland from North Adams last night, as planned, came here today and made an ascension in balloon Pittsfield in the Heart of the Berkshires. William F. Whitehouse piloted the aerial craft, and Philip Carroll and Lorimer Warner comprised the passenger list. The balloon started at 11:30 a. m. and sailed in a southwesterly direction.

AWAIT SIGNAL TO START.

Five Motor Boats to Attempt Race from Philadelphia to Cuba.

PHILADELPHIA, May 21.—Five trim little cruising motor boats lay in the Delaware river off this city today waiting for the signal to start them on their long race to Havana, Cuba. The run is one of the longest and most daring ever attempted by power boats. The contest is under the joint auspices of the Yachtmen's Club of Philadelphia and the Havana Yacht Club, and on the showing made by the little racers will depend, it is said, the question of sending motor boats across the Atlantic next year. The statistics of the entrants are as follows:

Ilys—Length 50 feet; engine, 25 horse-power; J. G. N. Whitaker, owner and master; B. D. Reese, mate and navigator.

Caroline—Length, 65 feet; engine, horse-power; M. E. Brigham, owner; Captain Loveland, navigator.

FLUSSER AND PRESTON TRIALS.

After These Rockland Course Will Give Way to Provincetown.

ROCKLAND, Me., May 21.—Torpedo boat destroyer Flusser went onto the Rockland course early today to repeat her standardization test of Tuesday morning, when she attained a maximum speed at the rate of 33.42 knots an hour, and developed a maximum horse-power of 15,992. Cloudy skies, a fresh northeast breeze and a choppy sea were the conditions under which the craft made her runs.

The Flusser's tests were completed at noon, after which the members of the trial board were transferred to destroyer Preston, which was sent over the course for a standardization test of her screws.

With the completion of the trials the scene shifts to the Provincetown course, when battleship Michigan and destroyers Flusser and Reid will be given a series of tests similar to those which have been made on the Rockland course the present week, all of which are for the purpose of determining whether a greater depth of water facilitates the movements of warships.

Of the three Atlantic coast courses Rockland takes the easy lead as to depth of water, with a depth of 335 feet. At Provincetown the ships will steam over a mile which ranges from 170 to 160 feet, while at Delaware Breakwater the maximum depth is but 150 feet and the minimum 135 feet. Although standardization trials in foreign countries are said to have demonstrated that shallow water causes a drag of ships of deep draft, and subsequently retards their speed, naval authorities in this country are differing in their opinions as to whether the surplus in the path of the Rockland course is beneficial.

The protected condition of the Rockland course has been one of the things which has commended itself to the trial boards, both in the exhaustive tests of the past four days and in all the builders' acceptance trials. They say that standardization trials can be held here when it would be almost impossible at Provincetown or Delaware Breakwater. The offset is found in the increased cost to all builders, save the Bath Iron Works, of sending ships to the Rockland course. It is semi-officially stated that this course will not be entirely abandoned, even if it fails to show the superior merits it is supposed to possess. The Bath Iron Works will continue to send all its ships here for trial.

Expulsion Extends in Cases Even to Tiny Children.

Feeling of Desperation Among the Russian Jews.

BERLIN, May 21.—The Hebrew Aid Society has received from Kiev, Russia, and made public, the following despatch:

"The expulsion of Jewish families is being carried out in the cruelest manner. Respectable Jewish citizens are corralled within police cordons and then led in groups to police headquarters. Even in the most favorable cases a maximum of two days is allowed for leaving the city. A feeling of desperation prevails among the Hebrew population."

Another despatch, received by the society from Moscow, read:

"Many expulsions of Jews are occurring here. Even children two years old are being expelled in cases where the fathers are commercial travelers without permanent homes, although the mothers are not molested, the exemption not being extended to the children. Accordingly, the parents are obliged to choose between losing their children or abandoning their homes."

LONDON, May 21.—Most of the members of royalty, special envoys and deputations who came to attend the funeral of King Edward have left or are leaving today for their homes. This morning Queen Mother Alexandra received in farewell audience in the throne room of Buckingham Palace the deputations to the funeral, the officers of the German and other visiting regiments and foreign civic bodies, thanking them for their presence yesterday.

Mr. and Mrs. Roosevelt accompanied American Ambassador Reid and Mrs. Reid to Wrest Park today for the week end.

QUEEN WEEPS BITTERLY.

Victoria of Spain Delivered of a Son, Still Born, This Morning.

MADRID, May 21.—Queen Victoria was delivered of an infant still born at 4 o'clock this morning. The sex was male. The unhappy outcome is attributed to a premature accouchement, which, however, was otherwise natural. The body will be buried without ceremony in the Royal Pantheon of the Escurial monastery. When told of her loss, the mother wept bitterly. The present is the first instance of a still birth in the Spanish royal family.

Queen Victoria is the mother of two boys and a girl surviving.

King Alfonso is still in London, where he attended yesterday the funeral of the queen's uncle, the late King Edward.

THE AMES ATTACK ON PAYNE.

Accuses Republican Leader of Discourtesy to Members.

WASHINGTON, May 20.—Representative Butler Ames of Massachusetts, who is an active aspirant for a seat in the United States Senate as the successor of Henry Cabot Lodge, created in the House today one of the biggest sensations of the present session of Congress by severely criticising Sereno E. Payne, chairman of the ways and means committee, for alleged discourtesy to himself and 76 other Republican members of the House. The New York leader was also charged by Mr. Ames with refusing to give due consideration to a letter addressed to him by President Taft advocating closer trade ties between this country and Canada. Mr. Ames says further that Mr. Payne's attitude freely interpreted means "the desires of many Republican members and the public be damned."

The Democratic members expressed elation at the castigation administered to the Republican floor leader by the Massachusetts man and some of the radical insurgents said Mr. Ames had gone even further than they had gone to establish a claim to being an irregular.

Mr. Ames obtained the floor for only five minutes, and he had not finished reading letters accusing Mr. Payne of refusing to hear him on a resolution calling for immediate negotiations with Canada for the establishment of closer commercial ties and freer trade relations when his time expired.

Mr. Ames secured an opportunity to make his attack by consent of Representative Tawney of Minnesota, who was in charge of the sundry civil appropriation bill. He evidently surprised the Minnesota Representative by the character of his remarks, for Mr. Tawney refused to extend the time and informed the House that had he known that Mr. Ames contemplated an attack upon another member of the House he would have refused him time.

Representative Olmsted of Pennsylvania objected to the reading of the letters, and when Mr. Ames asked unanimous consent to continue reading Representative Tawney also objected. Finally Representative Fitzgerald of New York, who had charge of the Democratic time on the bill, gave to Mr. Ames the few minutes necessary to finish the reading of the letters.

The letters concerned a resolution introduced in the House March 31 by Mr. Ames, which set forth that negotiations should be opened with Canada with a view to establishing closer commercial relations with that country. Mr. Ames's resolution was referred to the ways and means committee and the author charged that Mr. Payne refused to allow the committee to consider it, although he (Ames) presented a petition favoring it signed by 77 Republican members, and also caused President Taft to write a letter to Mr. Payne urging the adoption of the resolution.

In his letters Mr. Ames informed Mr. Payne that the latter's whole attitude in the matter "lacked in common courtesy and a proper sense of proportion."

His first letter to Mr. Payne, dated May 10, requested a hearing by the ways and means committee on his resolution and inclosed a petition of 77 Republican members to that effect.

Mr. Payne replied to this, saying that the fact that "77 men have signed your petition does not change the situation in regard to your resolution."

The second letter of Mr. Ames, dated May 16, was a vigorous attack upon Mr. Payne's method. The letter said the petition was signed by 77 Republican members, but Mr. Payne gave to it no consideration. It recounted that its author saw a letter dictated in his presence by President Taft and addressed to Mr. Payne, favoring the resolution. It recited that Mr. Ames twice spoke to Mr. Payne about the President's letter and that Mr. Payne told him that his (Payne's) relations were such with the President that when he wrote you such a letter he did not want the resolution.

While Mr. Ames was reading the letters Representative Tawney brought Mr. Payne to the floor. When Mr. Ames had finished Mr. Payne said he informed Mr. Ames that he believed the President should take up the Canadian negotiations, and after that it would be time for Congress to act. Mr. Payne said he conferred with members of the House who signed Mr. Ames's petition and some of them said they didn't know what they signed, while others said they did not care anything about it one way or the other.

"So far as I was concerned myself," concluded Mr. Payne, "I did not propose by my vote in the committee to bring up the question of tariff in any way during this session of Congress, and to that I adhere."

STEADY SITUATION IN TRADE.

R. G. Dun & Co. Report Mill Conditions Not Encouraging.

NEW YORK, May 20.—Despatches to R. G. Dun & Co. indicate a steady situation in the trade, while improved crop prospects have helped sentiment. A conservative feeling still exists in Boston, and business generally is dull. Woolen manufacturers have withdrawn from the raw material market after filling immediate requirements, and reports from men's wear mills are not encouraging, while further curtailment of cotton goods production is expected. Retailers are carrying small stocks, but trade is on a hand-to-mouth basis.

Total bank exchanges this week at all leading cities in the United States aggregate $2,645,799,870, a decrease of 6.9 per cent compared with the corresponding week last year.

The bequest was placed at interest by its donor and will pay $8,000 a year to the work of spreading Presbyterian doctrines.

ERIE ROAD RAISES WAGES.

Reaches Full Agreement with Conductors and Trainmen.

NEW YORK, May 20.—A full agreement between the Erie railroad and its conductors and trainmen on an advanced schedule of wages was reached here tonight at a conference between Vice President J. C. Stuart of the railroad and representatives of the employes.

Under the terms, a material increase will be granted June 1, while the Baltimore & Ohio standard will be established by degrees until the year 1911. Freight crews will have the benefit of the full advance July 1, 1911, and it will be extended to the passenger department September 1, 1911.

Announcement of the settlement was made by W. G. Lee, president of the Brotherhood of Railway Trainmen.

Two other agreements by the conductors and trainmen made today were also announced by Mr. Lee. He said he had received word from Albany that a settlement had been effected with the D. L. & W. and Hudson, while at Boston terms were made with the Boston & Albany. In both these cases the New York Central award was made the basis of the new schedule.

HARRIMAN INTER-STATE PARK PLAN FAILS.

The New York state senate has rejected the bill providing for an appropriation of $2,500,000 to condemn property and pay the cost of improving and maintaining 100,000 acres of land offered to the state by Mrs. E. H. Harriman for an inter-state park on the west bank of the Hudson. There was apparently no opposition to the bill, but when it was put upon its passage, it was found that it had not received the two-thirds vote necessary to pass a bond issue where more than $1,000,000 is concerned.

Carrying out the wishes of her husband, Mrs. Harriman not only offered to convey to the state the 100,000 acres of land, but also included in the gift $1,000,000 to acquire other lands between the Harriman property and the river. Following this, 16 wealthy residents of New York raised a fund of $1,655,000 to be used in extending the elaborate river park system. These gifts were made contingent upon the contribution by the state of $2,500,000 and by the appropriation by New Jersey of a "like" sum.

ABANDONS SANATORIUM SITE.

The Metropolitan Life Insurance Company has withdrawn its application to the state commissioner of health and the local health officer of the town of Somers, in Westchester county, for permission to build a sanatorium for the treatment of tubercular patients, in deference to the sentiment expressed by the people of the city of New York in opposition to the construction of such a sanatorium within the watershed of New York city. The company takes the position that, while there can be no objection to the building of the sanatorium within the watershed based on the theory of pollution of the city water supply, it recognizes a sentimental objection on the part of many citizens to its erection, and prefers to go elsewhere and avoid public criticism.

ROLLINS PAYS FINE OF $2,000.

Family of Former Governor Escapes Smuggling Indictment.

NEW YORK, May 20.—Ex-Governor Frank W. Rollins of New Hampshire, the originator of "Old Home Week," today paid a fine of $2,000 for alleged conspiracy to defraud the government of customs dues. He also paid $1,500 additional duties, with the understanding, it is said, that further proceedings against his family will be dropped.

The charge of smuggling was brought against the ex-governor last Friday by customs inspectors after he had failed to declare for duty many articles which he and his wife and son brought with them from Europe on the Lusitania. The ex-governor, after the arrest of his whole party, promised to make a statement which, he said, would put the whole matter in a new light.

The statement took the form of a plea of guilty, and Judge Hand, sitting in the United States circuit court, construed it as an admission that Mr. Rollins violated the law "knowingly, wilfully and maliciously," and fined him $2,000. The law provides a maximum penalty of two years in prison, a fine of $5,000, or both. The former governor took a big roll of bills from his pocket and paid his fine without comment.

The total value of the articles which the former governor neglected to declare is given as $4,730. The original complaint named Mrs. Rollins, his wife, and their son, Douglas as parties to the conspiracy, but the federal grand jury today handed down but one indictment, naming only the former governor.

As soon as Mr. Rollins learned of it he promptly entered his plea, and when he had paid his fine visited the custom house, where he handed over the full amount claimed on articles in his six trunks.

AGAINST THE OIL TRUST.

Minnesota Law Forbidding Discrimination in Prices is Upheld.

ST. PAUL, Minn., May 20.—The state supreme court in an opinion by Justice O'Brien today declared valid the state law forbidding discrimination in charges for commodities sold throughout the state.

The decision came on an appeal by the state from the decision of the Ramsey county Court in sustaining a demurrer of the Standard Oil Company. This demurrer was to the complaint of the state of Minnesota, which charged that the Standard Oil Company made discriminatory prices for its product in places where it had no competition. The state began an action to forfeit the charter of the company to do business in Minnesota. Judge Bunn in the county district court held the law unconstitutional. The supreme court today reversed this finding and upheld the law. The case will now be tried on the facts and an injunction will be asked.

TEN THOUSAND IN LINE.

Bible Class Men Parade at Sunday School Convention.

WASHINGTON, May 20.—More than 10,000 members of men's Bible classes from all parts of the world marched down Pennsylvania avenue late today and around the Capitol on their way to a monster mass meeting in Convention hall. This was the feature of today's session of the world's Sunday School Association, now in convention here.

Meanwhile the broad steps on the east side of the Capitol were crowded with thousands of women delegates to the convention and other Sunday School workers. To the tune of "Onward Christian Soldiers" and other hymns, the paraders marched, bearing banners inscribed with Christian mottoes. At the Capitol, which they were nearly an hour in passing, they were greeted by thousands of fluttering handkerchiefs and the music of a girls' choir.

Practically every country in the world and every state in the Union was represented in the parade, and the American, German and other flags of the nations floated on the breeze by the side of various church banners.

As Convention hall was not large enough to accommodate all the men, another meeting was held in Mount Vernon Methodist Episcopal Church.

Simultaneously two meetings for women were in progress, at one of which Mrs. Sherman, wife of the Vice President of the United States, presided.

IN MOURNING.

Robert Goelet, during the Easter parade in Fifth avenue, stood in conversation with a group of friends, when a lady in a beautiful gown passed.

"Why there goes Mrs. X," said a young matron. "She was grey last year, and now her hair is as black as jet!"

Mr. Goelet, buttoning his smart morning coat answered with a smile:

"Well, you know, she has recently become a widow."

PERSONALS.

....Andrew Tian Jones, a life-long resident of Ashland has just celebrated his one hundredth birthday. He is a direct descendant of John Alden, and several of his ancestors took part in the Revolution.

....Fifty years ago last Wednesday Abraham Lincoln was nominated as candidate for President of the United States in the convention held in the old Wigwam which was in Market street, between Lake and Randolph Streets, Chicago.

....Augustus L. Revere, great-grandson of Paul Revere and said to have been the last direct descendant of the Revolutionary hero, died Friday at Morristown, N. J. Mr. Revere was 52 years of age, and was the son of General Joseph Revere. He was not married.

....After a delay of 32 years, Charles Dana Burrage, a wealthy attorney of Boston, was graduated this week from the University of California with the degree of bachelor of arts. He was denied a diploma because of a snake, an owl and a pair of lizards which appeared in Professor Paila's French class back in 1878. His classmates have labored incessantly in his behalf, and now the faculty has relented and Burrage was given his degree with students less than half his age.

....Efforts in behalf of the safe and sane celebration of the Fourth of July in Boston includes an invitation by Mayor Fitzgerald to President Taft to deliver the annual oration in Faneuil Hall and the sending of circulars by one of the sub-committees of the 1915 movement to representative organizations, suggesting the best way to hold celebrations. The mayor says President Taft will be in Somerville on the morning of the Fourth, and hopes that he can be induced to aid in the launching of the "safe and saner" movement in Boston.

....Pauline Garcia Viardot, who was a celebrated French vocalist many years ago and a daughter of the famous tenor, Manuel Garcia, is dead in Paris. The musical community and the press are unanimous in stating that her death means the passing away of the last of the famous school headed by her father and Mme. Malibran, her sister. She was born in 1821, developed her vocal qualities in Mexico and was one of Liszt's most accomplished pupils. For nearly half a century she enjoyed a series of unbroken triumphs in the various European capitals. She married Louis Viardot, director of the Paris Italian Opera in 1841 and retired from the stage in 1863. In 1871 she settled in Paris and became a teacher of singing. She composed several operas, over 60 vocal melodies and many instrumental pieces.

Building operations in New England are keeping ahead of the record-breaking figures of last year. According to the statistics compiled by the F. W. Dodge Company contracts awarded from January 1 to May 18 this year aggregate $62,226,000. THE MATTER WITH THE MINE.

Last fall there was an explosion in the Cherry mine in Illinois and 265 men were snuffed out of existence. The coroner's jury has been investigating the cause for months and has rendered a verdict that the laws of the state had been violated, with the knowledge and consent of the mine inspectors.

If the truth were known most mine explosions would be found due to a similar cause. Whenever there is a disaster there is a great agitation for more investigation and experiment with explosives and mine gases, in order to determine the cause. It has been insisted that the federal government should have a bureau of mines and the Geological Survey has been conducting experiments with explosives, and has indicated those which are proper to use in mines and those which ought not to be used because they create too much flame, which is likely to ignite the mine gases.

The states which have mines have mining bureaus, and many of them have state inspectors, and the conditions of safety and danger are perfectly well known. The states have laws and the mining companies have their regulations, and if everybody obeyed these there would be few or no explosions. Perhaps all could not be provided against, but almost all could be. The laws are not enforced and the companies' regulations are treated lightly. The miners are careless, because all men become in a measure indifferent to danger to which they are constantly exposed. The companies and the inspectors, however, are apt to assume that if the miners feel like being careless when their own lives are at stake it is not their business to stop them and it is a common thing for the regulations of the company and the laws of the state to be disregarded without result except when a disaster occurs.

The inspectors should inspect and the companies enforce their regulations, even if the miners themselves are disposed to neglect them. Railroad accidents and mining horrors are generally the result of somebody "taking the chance." The risk ought not to be permitted.

THE PROFITS OF LABOR AND OF CAPITAL.

A magazine writer in a recent article advocates the capitalization of labor, arguing that it deserves to be thus treated as much as money, and that a limit should be placed on the amount which capital shall receive from its investments just as upon the return which labor shall receive for its use. His idea is that labor should be capitalized the same as money and both should be limited in the amount to be received from their use, the proceeds above that to be divided between the two. He goes even a step farther than urging an equal division of these surplus earnings, on the ground that more should go to the man than to the money. His chief argument is that man should be put at least on a par with money in the wealth-producing world, and that in this manner the inequality of the present system to a considerable extent would be corrected. He leans toward the side of labor as against capital, with the belief that the man is the most important factor to be reckoned with, that he ought to receive his share of the returns of investment of capital and labor, and that this fair share is more rather than less than goes to the possessor of capital.

The article is interesting and the argument is full of force, but it is not easy to follow it to its extreme conclusions. In theory it is fine-sounding, but in practice it does not seem as though it would work as well as it sounds. Perhaps this is in part at least due to its originality and newness and possibly it would after all work more smoothly and advantageously than appears on the surface. It would certainly be interesting to see the experiment tried on a considerable scale in some community. This plan, it must be observed, is something more than co-operating. It is an actual combination of capital and labor in a business enterprise, in which each is to share equally with the other; or, if the extreme view of the writer is to be adopted, labor is to receive the larger share of the surplus profits because man is of more value than money in the world's work. This is a complete reversion of the usual opinion regarding capital, that it is entitled to the larger part of the profits of a business enterprise, because its use involves more of risk than is attendant upon the use of labor and because in many, if not most, cases it represents the brains and the activities of men who have given them just as other men have given the use of their hands for the general production of wealth and material things.

There is little question that the plan proposed would do something toward settling the inequalities which now exist in the economic system, but whether it would be a sufficient, satisfactory and permanent settlement is a question. It may be, however, that this suggestion points the way toward some better system of co-operation between capital and labor, if it is not advisable or possible to go as far as is advocated by the writer. The ultimate arrangement of the relations of capital and labor which is to solve the problems now agitating the commercial world may lie in that direction, even if the way pointed out is not the best or the wisest to travel. It is well to have the direction indicated, that attention may be centred upon that and there may be a sort of preparation for the actual movement, when the time is ripe and the real route is decided upon.

Pioneer work in opening new fields of effort and discovering new areas for development is almost always of the extreme type and the actual task of development when it is undertaken is not often just as it was laid out in the beginning, but is a sort of compromise. So it is likely to be in regard to the future relations of capital and labor in business enterprises. The suggestion of this writer may be the work of the pioneer laying out the trail, but when the road itself is made it may be changed considerably in its course, and yet lie in the same general direction. Views of this extreme type, therefore, are valuable for what they indicate, if not for what they actually amount to in themselves.

THE TARIFF COMMISSION.

There is no doubt that the tariff commission created by the last session of Congress was limited in its functions to advising the President what countries, if any, were "unduly discriminating" against our exports, in order that he might apply to them the maximum provisions of the new tariff. When objection was made to the provision for such a commission it was met with assurances that the commission would have no opportunity to advise Congress regarding the imposition of duties and would have no warrant for making any tariff investigations except those called for by the maximum and minimum section of the new law.

The President, however, while highly praising the tariff law, to the great disgust of the "insurgents," evidently contemplates another revision of the law at no distant day and has urged Congress to appropriate a quarter of a million dollars to enable him to make all sorts of investigations into costs of productions and economic conditions here and abroad, with a view to advising Congress in the future what changes ought to be made in duties. The House committee on appropriations has put into the sundry civil bill such an item, leaving the President a free hand in the selection of his agents and the subjects for their investigations.

The "stand pat" element does not particularly enjoy this and there are predictions that the appropriation will be rejected, on the point of order that the tariff commission for which the quarter of a million is proposed to be appropriated is not at all the tariff commission already in existence, and therefore the appropriation is new legislation and not admissible in a general appropriation bill. Chairman Tawney, however, says he has another scheme for obtaining the appropriation if it should be knocked out of the sundry civil bill. There is no doubt that such an agency for investigation as the President asks for could be extremely useful; that is, if Congress would pay any attention to its investigations and conclusions, which is extremely dubious.

The Louisiana legislature is to adjourn next Tuesday, to allow the entire membership to go to Washington to present the claims of New Orleans as the logical point for the world's Panama exposition. The legislators will join the exposition delegation, which comprises the governor and lieutenant governor, speaker of the house, mayor of New Orleans, Republican and Democratic national committeemen and delegations from Atlanta, Vicksburg, Mobile, Chattanooga and other Southern cities. They will make a solid attack on the House committee on foreign affairs and the Senate committee on expositions. If numbers count, New Orleans ought to secure the exposition.

The funeral of the late King of England has set a new standard for grandeur. Heretofore modern pageants have been compared with the demonstration which marked the funeral of Queen Victoria, but that occasion has been far eclipsed by the later demonstration. The world has moved in the past ten years and things are done on a grander scale today.

The United States Senate had an interesting discussion on the battleship question, the opponents of the two-ship program having quite a field day. In spite of this opposition there is every prospect that two battleships will be authorized when the bill is passed.

Providence is planning an old-fashioned Fourth of July celebration, with a historical pageant in six divisions, including antiques and horribles, with little sports, literary exercises, at which the Declaration of Independence will be read, and Punch and Judy shows. This will undoubtedly be a quiet celebration, and will be generally regarded as a sane one.

On the day the earth was to pass through the tail of the comet The Daily News took on a new employe by the name of William Halley. And The News had nothing to do with the name.

There has been almost no end of discussion as to what would happen to the earth when it passed through the comet's tail. The question now is: What has happened to the tail?

Newport paid but little attention to the death and funeral of the King of England. Was it lack of respect, or simply indifference?

Is it possible that the comet hit the earth so hard that it broke off its tail? The earth is not sure that it was struck at all.

Clouds in the west, haste, oh haste away, and grant us a view of the great comet before it takes its flight!

What is a comet without a tail?

MAINE DESIRES ITS OWN WATER POWER.

(Portland Press.)

What the people of Maine want and what it is for their highest material interest to have, is the development and application of the water power within their own borders. Otherwise it would be of no great advantage to the state that it has such rivers as the Penobscot, the Kennebec, the Androscoggin and the Saco, for to all intents and purposes these would have been transplanted to other states. Maine would then become practically a mill pond turning wheels in Boston, Providence and perhaps even New York. Grists would be ground in plenty and tolls taken, but neither grist nor toll would benefit Maine. The only part of Maine would be to furnish the power as the cart-horse furnishes his strength, getting for his labor only his keep. With the best sites and privileges in control of foreign capital and the energy of a million and a half of horses conveyed to foreign parts for use, all that Maine would have to show for it would be dams and dynamos and some strands of copper wire; no added manufactories with large invested capital, no increase of population in the manufacturing towns, no increased wage payments to be spent locally, no considerable additions to the taxable wealth, no enlargement of public revenues, no enlarged markets for local producers, no growth of trade for local merchants, nothing but mill ponds and dynamos.

Under a wise policy the undeveloped water power of Maine, of a potential capacity of more than 1,000,000 horsepower and worth from $40,000,000 to $25,000,000 a year, should be conserved and developed and set to work right here at home. There is reason to believe that powerful capitalistic interests outside have their eyes on this rich prize and are to be prevented only by vigilance from walking off with it. Some of their surreptitious methods in the past are pointed out and probably there will be more of the same sort as suggested by the ingenuity of promoters. It is good public policy to encourage capital to come here and invest itself in the work of developing and utilizing this power, under proper regulation and safeguards, but that it must come and locate should be a positive condition. We want our rivers to run our factories and railroads, build up our towns and develop our seaports, light our streets and light and warm our houses. In this climate and with no black coal deposits, we need our white coal for our own use. Heed should be paid to the timely warning of Mr. Ricker and in the choosing of representatives to the legislature this vital question of the protection of the water power should be made prominent. If we are not careful about this, the heedlessness may be regretted for generations to come.

MUST TEACH THE EARTH IS FLAT.

A salesman for a Chicago map publishing house recently tried to sell a map to a director of schools in a village in Michigan, but to his astonishment the director denounced him as crazy when he showed him a scheme showing the world revolving around the sun. The director insisted that the world was flat. The agent sought out the school principal, and together they tried to convince the director, but the official grew angry and threatened to "fire" the principal for imbuing his pupils with such "nonsensical notions."

Decision As to Election of Cumberland Overseer of Poor.

Exhibition Drills by State National Guard—Call to Rev. Frank J. Goodwin.

The supreme court has decided against John T. Barber of Cumberland, who petitioned for a writ of mandamus to compel Town Clerk Broderick to place Barber's name on the official ballots as candidate for overseer of the poor, to be voted for at the election next month. Judge Blodgett handed down the opinion denying and dismissing Mr. Barber's petition. He said the court was of the opinion that the provisions of the act of 1856 relative to the town of Cumberland are still in force and that the overseer of the poor in that town is still probably to be elected by the town council. The petitioner claimed that he presented nomination papers signed by more than 50 qualified electors to the clerk, who told him the name would not be printed on the ballots. The respondent claimed that the office of overseer of the poor is not an elective office in the town of Cumberland, but is filled under special statutes by the town council. The entire question, as argued in the briefs submitted to the court by counsel, hinged upon the construction of the statutes as to their application to the manner of choosing an overseer of the poor. During the oral argument, Patrick H. Quinn, counsel for the town clerk, called the court's attention to the fact that the nomination papers bore the caption "Independent Democrat," and said that the General Laws prohibited the use of any word joined with the name "Democrat" or "Republican."

The Rhode Island National Guard gave an instructive demonstration of its usefulness and efficiency Friday evening by exhibition drills and a review to Governor Pothier at the state armory in Providence. From a practical standpoint, as well as from a picturesque, it was one of the most interesting and important military events ever seen in this state. It was the first time in the history of the military forces of Rhode Island that so many troops were ever manoeuvred under one roof, more than 900 uniformed men participating in the concluding review. The work of the several commands was of the highest order and reflected credit upon the officers and men, while the handling of the troops, which were brigaded in three divisions for the review by Colonel Charles E. Mulhearn, was favorably commented upon by military officials who watched the ceremony. The large drill shed was crowded to its capacity by friends of the guardsmen, it being one of the largest gatherings ever seen in the armory. While the women relatives and friends of the members of the companies were largely in the majority, there were numerous past officers of the state militia, independent chartered companies, as well as veterans of the Civil and Spanish-American wars, and they were all instituted in their praise of the various evolutions. The program was diversified and included nearly every phase of military life, introducing the various arms of the service. Gun drills by a landing force of the Naval Battalion, guard mount by the First District coast artillery, bayonet drill, street riot drill, and a cavalry skirmish, concluding with a dress parade by the Second District corps and a review of all the commands quartered at the new armory tendered to Governor Pothier were the essential features. Concerts by the First and Second District bands added to the enjoyment of the evening.

Rev. Frank J. Goodwin, pastor of the Pawtucket Congregational Church, Friday received a telegram from the head of the Mount Pleasant Congregational Church of Washington, offering him the pastorate of that church. The despatch stated that the call was unanimous and expressed the hope that it would be accepted. Rev. Mr. Goodwin said he would make an announcement of his decision to his parishioners at the Sunday morning service. The Mount Pleasant Church is located in the northwestern section of Washington and was founded in 1885 with 19 members. It has had a successful career, as its present membership is more than 900 and the Sunday school connected with the church has a membership of more than 500. Rev. Mr. Goodwin has been with the Pawtucket Congregational Church about ten years, and came to Pawtucket from Glen Ridge, N. J., the Rhode Island church being his second pastorate.

The New York, New Haven & Hartford railroad has secured options on land, aggregating about 15 or 16 acres, in the Privilege district of Woonsocket, presumably intending to use the property as a freight yard to relieve present freight congestion there. The land is owned by Walter B. Greene and others, and has been considered for several years as available for a freight yard. It lies between North Main street, Woonsocket, and the Passeang-Woonsocket-Boston line of the New Haven, less than a mile from the main line tracks between Boston and New York. The land is opposite the Lawton Spinning Company and is on the left of the railroad going from the "Air Line" station to the Woonsocket Junction. It extends north of Winter street between North Main street and the railroad, and includes all the land with the exception of some owned by the Woonsocket Shuttle Company and the Blackstone Valley Coal Company. There are between 15 and 16 acres and there are seven houses on it.

Seven-year-old Edmund A. Mahoney was crushed to almost instant death while at play with his brother and two other small lads on Lippitt street, Providence, Friday evening. The little fellow was crowding at the side of a large pile of lumber, hiding from the other boys. His brother and Joseph Rooney clambered on the pile, sending the boards crashing down on the tiny lad. The cries of the terrified children brought immediate assistance, and the little form was lifted from beneath the lumber. His skull was fractured and his chest crushed. His father carried him home, but life departed before medical assistance arrived. The dead boy is the son of William Mahoney and was known as one of the brightest little fellows in the neighborhood.

The Rhode Island Jurisdiction, Knights of Maccabees, will hold its annual convention Thursday, May 26, in Providence. Supreme Commander D. P. Markey of the order will be among those present. In the evening Providence Tent, No. 2, will work the second and third degrees.

TO ENTERTAIN THE PRESIDENT.

Committee on Invitation Recommends a Council Appropriation of $2,000.

The committee on the invitation to President Taft to come to Newport at the time of his visit to Rhode Island for the Waterways convention met Friday evening and organized by the election of Alvah H. Sanborn as chairman. There was a general discussion of the matter. It was thought, that if Newport was to invite the President, he was to come, the city should provide a luncheon for him and not depend on some resident to entertain him. For that reason it was voted to recommend that the Council appropriate $2,000 for the entertainment of the President if he comes and there is no chance to entertain him.

Now that the committee has done its work the Board of Aldermen will probably call the Council to meet in special session to act on the resolutions presented by Chairman Burlingame inviting the President to visit Newport at that time.

BRISTOL SHORT-LOBSTER MAN FINED.

Deputy Lobster Commissioners Luth and Harrington were in Bristol Friday, and a lot that things were not exactly up to the rules there. They waited for one lobsterman to come in, and shortly he came and they searched his boat and there was nothing in view which was not right. Still they did not despair and finally, under the floor of the cabin, they found four very short lobsters. The man, A. Jamiat, was arraigned before the court in Warren and fined $5 and costs on each lobster. At first he was going to fight the case; then he thought the cheapest way was the best and paid up. There is a courtroom in Bristol but the judge was in New York, and the clerk elsewhere but out of town.

—Steamer New Hampshire of the New Bedford line has arrived at the repair shops for an overhauling preliminary to resuming service on that line June 3. Her sister ship, the Maine, was already here.

—The new keeper of the city clocks, George Simpson, is finding that the office is no sinecure. Today he had the police station clock to doctor and was up on a ladder, trying to feel its pulse and set it going.

—Frederick U. Paine has rented, for the estate of Emily B. Hurd, the property known as the Cunningham cottage, corner of Catherine and Cottage streets, to Mrs. John H. Caswell of New York, for the season.

—E. F. McDonald, J. Rogers and A. Edwards of Providence; H. Easton of Boston, Thomas E. Chase of New York, George D. Vernon of Buffalo and Mr. and Mrs. A. T. Taylor of Philadelphia are registered at the United States Hotel.

—The orders for lobsters for family consumption Sunday again remind one of the old style of about every one eating lobsters on that day. That was before lobsters reached the luxury class—but then, about every sort of food is in the luxury class now.

—This afternoon the Rogers High School base ball team will play its first game away, going to New Bedford and meeting the crack high school nine of that city. This team is fast, and Rogers will need to travel at its best pace to bring back a victory.

—William Miller and wife have sold to Edgar A. Oliver, for $3,800, the estate bounded north, 42 feet, on Morton avenue; east, 77 feet, on land of Matson and W. H. Hazard, trustee; south, 41 feet, on land of Henry B. Bateman, and west, 60 feet, on land of Dennis B. Leary.

Later a landing pier will also be constructed, extending into deep water.

—The new filter at the Water Works pumping station seems to be doing its work well. The test Friday was at the rate of 5,700,000 gallons a day or close to the six millions which the contractors have guaranteed. This is in excess of any expected consumption, but is desired so that there will be a reserve for safety in the filter capacity.

—The Lowell Sun announces the death, at Chelmsford Centre, Friday of last week of Elizabeth McLarney, in her eighty-eighth year. She was until five years ago a resident of this city, living on School street, and for years had been housekeeper for Mrs. Jerome Napoleon Bonaparte at "Harristof House." Five years ago, on account of age, she left her home here and went to live with her nephew at Chelmsford Centre.

—Some of the passengers on the local Centre cars have felt for the last two nights that they had erred in not wearing motor wraps before starting out. Open cars have been put up to the hauling-in time, and the moderate temperature has hardly been cold. That time. Patrons have learned that, while they could walk without drafts in comfort, the chilly night air was too much for riding, and so they have walked.

—The stock of the late Rocco Barone has been disposed of and that old variety shop is no more. It certainly had a great collection of unique things. Rocco himself was unique in his ways, and he had a penchant for gathering things which struck his fancy. As the business has been given up, the stock was disposed of and has been scattered to various buyers. One old flintlock gun went to Jamestown, as a souvenir.

ENGLISH CHANNEL AGAIN CROSSED.

De Lesseps Makes Easy Passage in Fifty Minutes.

Flies High and Lands Between Dover and Deal.

DOVER England, May 21.—Count de Lesseps, who left Calais, France, in an aeroplane at 3:30 o'clock this afternoon, crossed the English channel and landed on the English coast at 4:20 o'clock. The aviator descended at Wanston Court farm, near St. Margaret's bay, about half way between Dover and Deal, and a mile inland.

The count said he had a very easy passage and the English coast was invisible to him until he was very close. He flew very high. The landing was made easily in a meadow.

Crowds were awaiting de Lesseps on the field where Bleriot landed a year ago, and only three or four persons actually witnessed the descent in the meadow. They heard the whir of the motor long before the aeroplane appeared out of the fog. De Lesseps descended gingerly from a height of 1,000 feet, seeking a good landing place. He alighted avithout the slightest mishap.

MAY MAKE RETURN TRIP.

Count de Lesseps Has Fine Weather on Flight to Dover.

CALAIS, France, May 21.—Count Jacques de Lesseps, the French aviator, started at 3:30 o'clock this afternoon on a double flight across the English channel. He reached the English side successfully and was expected to make the return trip at once.

The weather was magnificent when the aeroplane rose from the ground for its daring trip, heretofore accomplished only by Louis Bleriot. Rising, the count took his machine in a wide circle over the cliffs, and then headed straight for Dover. In 15 minutes he had disappeared from view. A torpedo boat destroyer followed the course of the aeroplane.

De Lesseps used a 50 horse-power monoplane calle "Scarabee." He ascended from the point at which Bleriot started on his cross-channel flight last July, and rose gradually to an altitude of 1,600 feet, at which height he was traveling when he was lost from view in a light haze.

Louis Bleriot, the French aviator, crossed the English channel in an aeroplane on the morning of July 25 last. This unprecedented feat had not been matched up to today.

Count de Lesseps is a son of the late Viscount Ferdinand de Lesseps. At Mourmelon-le-Grand last December he made two unsuccessful attempts to win the 100-kilometre cross-country prize. The count met with an accident at Barcelona May 2, while flying in a biplane. The machine fell and was wrecked, and the aviator was injured about the face, but not seriously.

NO DAMAGE FROM EARTHQUAKE

Recent Disturbance in Costa Rica Did Not Approach Canal Zone.

WASHINGTON, May 21.—It appears from reports just received here that the recent seismic disturbances in Costa Rica did not approach nearer than 200 miles to the canal zone, and there was not even a crack in the concrete of the canal as a result of the quakes.

SCUP OFF WATCH HILL.

The fishermen are landing some small scup, which have struck in at Watch Hill in great numbers and seem to be the only ones able to reach the inshore traps here. There are large scup in the offshore traps and a fairly large shipment is promised for tonight. The mackerel catchers who went out yesterday afternoon began returning this noon, and 1,500 mackerel had been landed and more were seen coming in. Tomorrow, with a continuance of fair weather, promises a good shipment of mackerel by the netters. This is their sort of weather.

ON THE NEW THEATRE SITE.

So little of the structures on the new Star Theatre site remains that one can now secure a fair idea of the extent of the ground. Practically all has been laid low which can be until the shoe polishing parlors are disposed of. There is considerable kindling wood to be carted off, and then things will be in readiness for the excavating, which will be quite an extensive undertaking. Since compelled to do so the wreckers have proved the contention of The News that there was plenty of space on the site to conduct the work without encroachment upon the public highway for a dumping ground.

BOARD OF HEALTH LICENSES.

The Board of Health at its meeting Friday granted renewals of licenses for peddling fruit and vegetables to Timothy E. McCarthy, Timothy F. Sullivan, Samuel Lack, Joseph R. Russin, William Waters, and Joe Markman, and for fish to Jeremiah J. Sullivan. The application of Sam Molerowitz for a fruit peddler's license was laid on the table. The applications of Moses David and Louis David for fruit peddlers' licenses were taken from the table and refused.

COULDN'T SEE THE COMET.

Sky Obscured by Clouds Friday Evening, But Further Chances Tonight and Sunday.

The comet gave the amateur observers the slip Friday night. This had been anticipated by those who watched the weather conditions, for about 4 o'clock a haze began to settle down and hide the sun and it became evident that unless something unexpected happened—a thunder storm, for instance—there would be no view of the comet. When it came time for the sun to set there was not even a glimmer of light from the point where it was setting. Along toward the south there was a lightening between two clouds which showed there was some light to the westward, but nothing to indicate that a glorious sunset was on somewhere. Even Fort Adams did not greet the setting sun with the customary gun, having had its official sunset some time previous, but at 7:01:30 the bugler on the Vesuvius sounded colors and the flags came down. The Navy calendar said sunset was at 7:04; the comet bulletin put it at 7:11. There was no means of telling from the sun itself when it set, but it was about 7:02 Judging by the time of Thursday.

There may be a chance tonight. The comet is due to set, comet time tables, at 9:12. Reduced to Newport clock time this means about 9:05. This gives two hours after sunset, and should, if the sky is clear, afford an hour and a half of comet seeing.

Sunday night the comet will be, on schedule, half an hour longer in view, if the sky favors, and there will be an even better opportunity to see it. Sunday was the best day for seeing Comet A 1910, the other comet of this year, and perhaps Sunday will be the day when the ordinary individual will have the best chance to see Halley's comet on its 1910 trip.

REPAIRS TO MAYER BLOCK.

Dangerously Supported Overhang Being Done Away With by Building Inspector's Advice.

One of the various things which Building Inspector Sullivan has discovered and is having rectified because of the same is to be seen at the Mayer block on Spring street. Limestone bracket blocks have been carrying the brick walls at either side of the building where they have a slight projection over the sidewalk from the second story up. The block under the south wall had become cracked and the brickwork in the immediate vicinity had been developing cracks. These seemed to be indications that it would be only a matter of time when a portion of the corner would fall into the street because of the weakened support.

The inspector called the attention of Mrs. Mayer to the situation, and she at once sought advice as to how it might be corrected, and masons are now engaged on the work not alone at the weakened corner, but at the sound one also. The repairs are being made by doing away with the overhang and building up a pier from the foundation, which, in turn, is thoroughly tied into the old wall. Had not the situation been taken in time it is probable that some one or some adjoining property would have been injured by flying bricks, though it seems hardly likely that the occupants of the building would have been endangered unless they happened to be on the street.

As this case has been treated, the owner of the property has been pleased to receive a notice that something should be done, which is materially different from the way some property owners receive the Inspector, as they seem to think it is no one's business if they desire to erect or maintain constructions which are endangering the lives and property of others. The man who promised to remove a roof covering that is contrary to law does not yet appear to have moved in the matter.

JAMESTOWN.

[Regular correspondence of the News.]

Mrs. Whitney of Boston is on the island today.

The tax assessors have completed the work of assessing the taxes for 1910.

Some of the baggage belonging to Mr. Frank E. Weeden, who will occupy the C. E. Weeden cottage on Walcott avenue, arrived today.

Work on the new cottage, on the site of the old Mann cottage, will be resumed as the lumber, which caused the hold-up in the work, arrived in Newport Friday and is being carted to the place.

The St. Mark's base ball team will play a juvenile team in Newport this afternoon.

Miss L. C. Tefft of Kingston College is spending the week's end with relatives on the island.

Work on Narragansett avenue was resumed this afternoon after being interrupted by the morning's rain.

FRIDAY NIGHT'S RAIN.

It rained some last night. Possibly some folks noticed this. It rained hard and it rained long enough to shut down on outdoor work this morning, and that meant for the day. Teamsters were laid off, the city men were laid off and lost a full day's pay, and work on building construction came to a halt. Generally things stopped. The sun made a try at coming out about 11 o'clock, and then it looked as though the rain were coming again.

The rain must have started early, for it was coming down at 3 o'clock and it rained hard at 4:20. Up to 6 a. m. the rainfall was .35 of an inch, and considerable fell after that hour. The wind bobbed about round the compass, starting at southeast this morning, then to southwest and then to northwest, with a tendency to northeast. And still the comet is out of sight.

The weather this afternoon took on a sultry tone, and while the temperature did not rise so high the humidity made things feel decidedly close and hot.

Here's a shoe for the young man, a cool, cozy three eyelet sailor tie. Made on our popular high toe Cinch last of shiny Russia Calf skin. It's a flexible welt and fits without slipping.

You can get a little idea of the smart style of this shoe from the cut but drop into the store and try it on to know its full value and comfort.

Same style in the new Boston Gray, Cadet Calf or Tan Russia Calf. Priced $4.50.

MORE NEARLY LIKE KIEL.

Buzzard's Bay Selected for Sonder Trial Races in September.

BOSTON, May 21.—Believing the sailing conditions in Buzzard's bay more nearly approximate those at Kiel, Germany, the Eastern Yacht Club has announced that the trial races for the selection of the American Sonder yacht team to represent this country in the German races in June, 1911, will be held there, beginning September 2. The races will continue the following week, until the committee has agreed on the three best boats.

Sonder yacht racing will have the call in Eastern waters for more than a month this summer, with the trials for the Spanish races August 8 and the International contests with the yachtsmen from that country the week beginning August 17. The latter races are expected to close during the following week, giving a week's rest before the German trials.

The principal handicap of the American boats at Kiel in 1908 was the fact that all three were selected under the conditions which prevailed off Marblehead, where there is a long, sleepy roll, so that when the Yankee yachts started against the Germans they found they could make very little progress in the short, choppy seas. In Buzzard's bay the water is shoal and the winds strong, which bring about very nearly the same conditions as those in Germany except that the water at Kiel is less dense than that in Buzzard's bay.

It is expected that there will be more than 20 aspirants for German honors at Buzzard's bay this fall. The American team will be sent to Germany in May, 1911.

—Mr. Arthur A. Gammell, son of Mr. and Mrs. William Gammell of Providence, has been elected to Skull and Bones, one of the three Senior societies at Yale College.

—The first excursion to Newport of the season of 1910 will be made Sunday by the British Veterans of Fall River, who will come on steamer Pontiac, arriving at 2 o'clock and returning at 4.

—Miss Rose Anna Grosvener gave a luncheon in Providence Friday in honor of her guest, Miss Annette M. Ham. The table was decorated with flowers from Miss Grosvenor's greenhouses in this city.

—Mr. Alfred G. Vanderbilt has been elected a member of the coaching club of France known as the Societe des Guides of which the Duc de Noailles is president and the Duc de Brissac vice president.

—Mr. and Mrs. Perry Belmont and Mr. and Mrs. C. Oliver Iselin sailed today on the Kaiserin Auguste Victoria for Europe, Mrs. Pierre Lorillard and Mr. Griswold Lorillard sailed on the Celtic and Mr. and Mrs. W. C. Eustis on the Lapland.

—Leave of absence for two months, with permission to visit China and Japan, has been granted to First Lieutenant Edward W. Wildrick, coast artillery corps, formerly at Fort Greble and now in the Philippines, the leave to become effective upon the expiration of his present sick leave.

—About 150 apprentice seamen left the Training Station for their homes Friday. Their homes were various, and the ticket sellers had some work in furnishing them with tickets. They have a furlough before reporting on the ships to which they have been transferred.

—First Lieutenant Arthur L. Pulver, medical reserve corps, U. S. A., has been ordered to Fort Wood, N. Y., to relieve Captain William L. Little, medical corps, who will return to Fort Adams, relieving First Lieutenant Herbert H. Sharpe, medical reserve corps, who when relieved will return to Fort Jay, N. Y.

—Mrs. William H. Tibbetts entertained the T and W Circle of the Women's Auxiliary to the Young Men's Christian Association at her home on Hoffman place Friday evening. Vocal and instrumental selections were given by Miss Margaret Watson of Providence. After the business session Miss Lottie Tripp, in behalf of the circle, of which Mrs. Tibbetts is captain, presented to the latter a set of cut glass comprising a sugar bowl, creamer and spoonholder.

—The difference, so far as the public is concerned, between automobilists was well shown by two cars which stood in front of The News office Friday afternoon. One, a local car, was left with its engine running and emitting foul odors which filled the air and made it a nuisance. The other, from out of the state, had the engine shut off as soon as it was stopped and the chauffeur did not start the machine until his party was ready to resume its journey. There was no smell from that car.

THE LAWLER MEMORANDUM.

Some Strange Complications of the Ballinger Case.

Overhauling the Customs Service—Plans for World's Largest Battleships—The Friar Lands.

WASHINGTON, May 20.—The last sensations of the Ballinger investigation are greater than the first. Although the inquiry is so near an end, no one can tell what dynamite the case may yet contain. The letter of the President admitting that the Wickersham review of the Glavis charges had been antedated at Mr. Taft's own suggestion and confirming the testimony of Kerby that Assistant Attorney General Lawler had prepared the draft which became the basis of the President's exoneration of Ballinger has furnished the latest explosion in this strange case. To add to the complications the White House had previously issued a denial of Kerby's evidence as to the draft of the letter prepared by Lawler. On the heels of this Attorney General Wickersham submitted to the investigating committee the text of the Lawler letter itself, examination of which proved that it had been used by the President, some sentences having been incorporated verbatim, as was subsequently stated in President Taft's letter to Senator Nelson laying bare the entire transaction. One other complication is that Lawler, although an assistant attorney general, is assigned to duty in the Interior Department and is thus practically under Secretary Ballinger, and himself an official of the accused department. One bright spot in the affair is that the President refused to incorporate in his letter Mr. Lawler's reflections on Gifford Pinchot and his implied approval of the Cunningham claims.

In his final testimony Secretary Ballinger grew more bitter than ever. He accused Engineer Davis of the reclamation service of having received pay from a private concern while still drawing his per diem from the government; he charged Pinchot, Glavis, Garfield and others with having formed a conspiracy to retire him (Ballinger) to private life; said that the pamphlet summing up the prosecution in this case had been issued from Pinchot's home, testified that the discharged forester had once spoken of him as "a yellow dog", intimated that the fulminations of ex-Governor Pardee and others against his administration of the Interior Department had been inspired by Pinchot and introduced a brief giving his own side of the case. The disposition now is to crowd the hearing to a speedy close. The difficulty of a quick ending is that Senator Root is leaving for Europe to represent the United States in a case before a special international tribunal at The Hague and therefore cannot be here to sign the committee report. The case in which Senator Root is to appear is that of the Newfoundland fisheries. When he will return to America is problematical. As he is a member of the Ballinger investigating committee a report can hardly be made until he comes back.

Not only is the New York customs house force being overhauled, but charges are being made in the special agents' division of the Treasury Department which has to do with the customs service. The New Orleans customs house is being investigated, and the whole service generally is being shaken up in a way that should do good. If the process continues long enough it should succeed at least in introducing a condition of temporary honesty.

Each year the two new Dreadnoughts built by the American navy are larger than those of the year before. The other day the Florida was launched, and the boast went far and wide that it is to be the greatest battleship afloat. Yet the naval experts are already planning two more that will outclass the Florida. The design is to adopt the 14-inch gun, which is larger than any naval gun now in use in the world.

Representative Martin of Colorado continues to introduce resolutions to investigate the sale to the Sugar Trust of the friar lands in the Philippines. One of his latest inquiries concerns what is known as the Calamba estate, which was in some sense the cause of the Filipino rebellion in 1896. Mr. Martin referred to the fact that it was the declared purpose of the United States in purchasing the friar lands to "break them up into small holdings for tenants." Yet newspaper despatches of a month ago had said that 20,000 acres of the Calamba estate had been sold by the government to the Dillingham sugar interests of Honolulu. He characterized the failure to put this land into the hands of small holders, as originally contemplated, and the sale of it to sugar interests "as nothing short of a crime."

FUNERAL OF ADMIRAL M'CALLA.

Simple But Impressive Services Held for Late Naval Officer in Washington.

The burial of Rear Admiral Bowman H. McCalla, U. S. N. (retired), in Arlington cemetery, Washington, Thursday, was attended with simple but impressive services. In the forenoon a small party of officers gathered with the widow and two daughters at the home of Rear Admiral W. H. Brownson. The remains were placed on a caisson there, and escorted by bluejackets and marines from the navy yard the cortege proceeded to the cemetery. As the procession passed through the gates a salute of 13 guns was fired by a battery of the Third field artillery, Fort Myer.

Services were conducted at the grave by Rev. Roland C. Smith, rector of St. John's Church. Three volleys and taps marked the consignment to the dust. The honorary pallbearers were Rear Admirals Richardson Clover, Leavitt C. Logan, Charles O'Neil, Royal B. Bradford and Charles H. Davis and Paymaster General Albert S. Kenny, all retired.

THE REAL TEST

Of Herpicide Is In Giving It a Thorough Trial.

There is only one test by which to judge of the efficiency of any article and that is by its ability to do that which it is intended to do. Many hair vigors may look nice and smell nice, but the point is—do they eradicate Dandruff and stop falling hair?

No, they do not, but Herpicide does, because it goes to the root of the evil and kills the germ that attacks the papilla from whence the hair gets its life.

Letters from prominent people everywhere are daily proving that Newbro's Herpicide stands the "test of use."

It is a delightful dressing, clear, pure and free from oil or grease.

Sold by leading druggists. Send 10c. in stamps for sample to The Herpicide Co., Detroit, Mich.

rests, towel rack, and every up-to-date feature imaginable. You want it, because it will cook any dinner and not heat the room. No heat, no smell, no smoke, no coal to bring in, no ashes to carry out. It does away with the drudgery of cooking, and makes it a pleasure. Women with the light touch for pastry especially appreciate it, because they can immediately have a quick fire, simply by turning a handle. No half-hour preparation. It not only is less trouble than coal, but it costs less. Absolutely no smell, no smoke; and it doesn't heat the kitchen.

The nickel finish, with the turquoise blue of the enameled chimneys, makes the stove ornamental and attractive. Made with 1, 2 and 3 burners; the 2 and 3-burner stoves can be had with or without Cabinet.

UP TO THE NEXT CONGRESS.

Bryan, on Eve of Sailing for Scotland, Makes Presidential Forecast.

NEW YORK, May 21.—It will be up to the next Congress to determine whether or not the next President shall be a Democrat, William J. Bryan believes. Mr. Bryan, who sailed today on steamer Celtic as a delegate at large from the United States to the international missionary conference in Scotland, had no hesitation in declaring his belief that the next Congress will be Democratic. His Presidential forecast was made just before he sailed. Judge George Gray of Delaware was a fellow-passenger with Mr. Bryan.

"If the next Congress, which I believe will be Democratic, with the members of the majority hailing largely from the West, makes a favorable record, in view of the Democratic gains at the last Presidential election, when 6,500,000 Democratic votes were polled, I believe that an additional million votes will be won, ensuring the election of a Democratic President" said Mr. Bryan. Mr. Bryan was non-committal as to personalities likely to figure in the race for the Democratic Presidential nomination. "As a matter of fact", he concluded, "a year must elapse before there can be any discussion of Presidential possibilities."

LIKE A FAN-TAILED PIGEON.

Comet Has Passed Far Beyond Earth, and Taken Appendage With It.

CARNEGIE OBSERVATORY, MT. WILSON, Cal., May 21.—To scientists at Carnegie observatory Halley's comet presented the appearance of a fan-tailed pigeon last night. The comet's appendage was spread out at the end through several degrees. Despite the bright moonlight, the tail appeared distinct. The comet set an hour and fifty minutes after the sun. Director Hale said last night's observations show that the comet has passed far beyond the earth and taken its tail with it.

TAIL VISIBLE IN THE EAST.

Seen in Mexico, but Clouds Block Harvard Observers' Attempts.

CAMBRIDGE, Mass. May 21.—Banks of heavy clouds blocked the attempts of the astronomers at Harvard observatory to obtain a view of Halley's comet or its appendage today. The professors believe that had the sky been clear they would have seen the tail in the eastern sky, as the many telegrams they have received from other astronomical observation stations lead them to think that the phenomenon which they witnessed yesterday morning was the comet's tail. The latest message came today from Tacubaya, Mexico, dated last night, which reads:

"Comet's tail visible today in the eastern sky.

"P. Valle."

HAS COMET LOST ITS TAIL?

Depauw Professor Thinks So, and That It Is Generating New One.

CHICAGO, May 21.—The theory that Halley's comet has lost its old tail, which may be floating in space in the eastern sky, and is now generating a new one, was advanced by Rev. Daniel J. McHugh, professor of astronomy at Depauw University, today. The old tail was forced away from the comet by the force of electrical repulsion, caused by the sunspots which were so prominent Wednesday, he thinks.

"It is my opinion," said Professor McHugh, "that the comet lost its tail some time Wednesday night. There are records of its having done the same thing in 1835. I saw the comet in the west last night, and it had no tail. This strengthens my theory that it is now generating a new tail, which will become visible in a short time."

SABBATH OBSERVANCE.

Presbyterian General Assembly Settles Down to Work.

ATLANTIC CITY, N. J., May 21.—Another large number of papers and reports were handed up to the stated clerk today when the Presbyterian General Assembly settled down to work after the opening devotional exercises. The report of the committee on Sabbath observance says the progress made during the past year in creating the uniform demand for a weekly rest day has been more marked than ever before. The committee recommends that the General Assembly endorse the Saturday half-holiday, as tending to the better observance of the Sabbath; condemns the Sunday Newspaper, and requests educational institutions to omit recitations Monday mornings, so as to leave the Sabbath free from the necessity of some of the students to prepare their lessons on that day.

WORLD SUNDAY DAY.

Conference Held Between Delegates Appointed to Speak in Churches.

WASHINGTON, May 21.—The world's sixth Sunday School convention met in one great session again today, in convention hall, with President F. B. Meyer of London in the chair. The regular session was cut short to give time for a conference between those who have been appointed delegates to speak in the churches and Sunday Schools of Washington tomorrow. Tomorrow will be World Sunday day. In every Sunday School in the world in the Sunday School Union it will be observed.

At the morning session today William N. Harrisborn of Boston reported for the field in North America and Rev. S. D. Sonier told of some of the needs of the work. Robert E. Speer spoke of "The Needs of the Mission Work Among Our Nearest Neighbors." Mr. Speer is secretary of the Presbyterian Board of Foreign Missions.

SATISFACTORY ADJUSTMENT.

Over 1,000 Telegraphers of Boston & Maine Road to be Raised.

BOSTON, May 21.—A complete and satisfactory adjustment of the wage scale for the 1,000 telegraphers of the Boston & Maine Railroad was announced today by General Superintendent C. E. Lee. Under the new scale the men will receive a raise averaging 7 per cent. There was also a readjustment of hours. The station agents who are not operators are to receive an increase of 25 cents a day as a rule, but others will have 50 cents additional. The operators at the North Station will receive an advance of 20 cents daily.

WILL NOT DISCUSS POLITICS.

Senator Root Will Not Talk on His Departure to The Hague.

NEW YORK, May 21.—"Cut that out; I am not going to talk politics," declared Senator Root to the newspaper men who asked him today on his departure to The Hague if he thought the Republican party was as strong today as it was a year ago. Accompanying Senator Root on steamer Lapland were lawyers from all over the United States to represent the country at the arbitration of the Northeastern fisheries dispute witht England, including Samuel J. Elder of Boston. Senator Root said he was not certain whether or not he would meet Colonel Roosevelt in Europe, but he hoped he would have the opportunity.

TO GO INTO EFFECT SOON.

Buzzard's Bay Selected for Sonder Trial Races in September.

BOSTON, May 21.—Believing the sailing conditions in Buzzard's bay more nearly approximate those at Kiel, Germany, the Eastern Yacht Club has announced that the trial races for the selection of the American Sonder yacht team to represent this country in the German races in June, 1911, will be held there, beginning September 3. The races will continue the following week, until the committee has agreed on the three best boats.

Sonder yacht racing will have the call in Eastern waters for more than a month this summer, with the trials for the Spanish races August 8 and the international contests with the yachtsmen from that country the week beginning August 17. The latter races are expected to close during the following week, giving a week's rest before the German trials.

The principal handicap of the American boats at Kiel in 1908 was the fact that all three were selected under the conditions which prevailed off Marblehead, where there is a long, sleepy roll, so that when the Yankee yachts started against the Germans they found they could make very little progress in the short, choppy seas. In Buzzard's bay the water is shoal and the winds strong, which bring about very nearly the same conditions as those in Germany, except that the water at Kiel is less dense than that in Buzzard's bay.

It is expected that there will be more than 20 aspirants for German honors at Buzzard's bay this fall. The American team will be sent to Germany in May, 1911.

—The difference, so far as the public is concerned, between automobilists was well shown by two cars which stood in front of The News office Friday afternoon. One, a local car, was left with its engine running and emitting foul odors which filled the air and made it a nuisance. The other, from out of the state, had the engine shut off as soon as it was stopped and the chauffeur did not start the machine until his party was ready to resume its journey. There was no smell from that car.

THE LAWLER MEMORANDUM.

Some Strange Complications of the Ballinger Case.

Overhauling the Customs Service—Plans for World's Largest Battleships—The Friar Lands.

WASHINGTON, May 20.—The last sensations of the Ballinger investigation are greater than the first. Although the inquiry is so near an end, no one can tell what dynamite the case may yet contain. The letter of the President admitting that the Wickersham review of the Glavis charges had been antedated at Mr. Taft's own suggestion and confirming the testimony of Kerby that Assistant Attorney General Lawler had prepared the draft which became the basis of the President's exoneration of Ballinger has furnished the latest explosion in this strange case. To add to the complications the White House had previously issued a denial of Kerby's evidence as to the draft of the letter prepared by Lawler. On the heels of this Attorney General Wickersham submitted to the investigating committee the text of the Lawler letter itself, examination of which proved that it had been used by the President, some sentences having been incorporated verbatim, as was subsequently stated in President Taft's letter to Senator Nelson laying bare the entire transaction. One other complication is that Lawler, although an assistant attorney general, is assigned to duty in the Interior Department and is thus practically under Secretary Ballinger, and himself an official of the accused department. One bright spot in the affair is that the President refused to incorporate in his letter Mr. Lawler's reflections on Gifford Pinchot and his implied approval of the Cunningham claims.

In his final testimony Secretary Ballinger grew more bitter than ever. He accused Engineer Davis of the reclamation service of having received pay from a private concern while still drawing his per diem from the government; he charged Pinchot, Glavis, Garfield and others with having formed a conspiracy to retire him (Ballinger) to private life; said that the pamphlet summing up the prosecution in this case had been issued from Pinchot's home, testified that the discharged forester had once spoken of him as "a yellow dog", intimated that the fulminations of ex-Governor Pardee and others against his administration of the Interior Department had been inspired by Pinchot and introduced a brief giving his own side of the case. The disposition now is to crowd the hearing to a speedy close. The difficulty of a quick ending is that Senator Root is leaving for Europe to represent the United States in a case before a special international tribunal at The Hague and therefore cannot be here to sign the committee report. The case in which Senator Root is to appear is that of the Newfoundland fisheries. When he will return to America is problematical. As he is a member of the Ballinger investigating committee a report can hardly be made until he comes back.

Not only is the New York customs house force being overhauled, but charges are being made in the special agents' division of the Treasury Department which has to do with the customs service. The New Orleans customs house is being investigated, and the whole service generally is being shaken up in a way that should do good. If the process continues long enough it should succeed at least in introducing a condition of temporary honesty.

Each year the two new Dreadnoughts built by the American navy are larger than those of the year before. The other day the Florida was launched, and the boast went far and wide that it is to be the greatest battleship afloat. Yet the naval experts are already planning two more that will outclass the Florida. The design is to adopt the 14-inch gun, which is larger than any naval gun now in use in the world.

Representative Martin of Colorado continues to introduce resolutions to investigate the sale to the Sugar Trust of the friar lands in the Philippines. One of his latest inquiries concerns what is known as the Calamba estate, which was in some sense the cause of the Filipino rebellion in 1896. Mr. Martin referred to the fact that it was the declared purpose of the United States in purchasing the friar lands to "break them up into small holdings for tenants." Yet newspaper despatches of a month ago had said that 20,000 acres of the Calamba estate had been sold by the government to the Dillingham sugar interests of Honolulu. He characterized the failure to put this land into the hands of small holders, as originally contemplated, and the sale of it to sugar interests "as nothing short of a crime."

FUNERAL OF ADMIRAL M'CALLA.

Simple But Impressive Services Held for Late Naval Officer in Washington.

The burial of Rear Admiral Bowman H. McCalla, U. S. N. (retired), in Arlington cemetery, Washington, Thursday, was attended with simple but impressive services. In the forenoon a small party of officers gathered with the widow and two daughters at the home of Rear Admiral W. H. Brownson. The remains were placed on a caisson there, and escorted by bluejackets and marines from the navy yard the cortege proceeded to the cemetery. As the procession passed through the gates a salute of 13 guns was fired by a battery of the Third field artillery, Fort Myer.

Services were conducted at the grave by Rev. Roland C. Smith, rector of St. John's Church. Three volleys and taps marked the consignment to the dust. The honorary pallbearers were Rear Admirals Richardson Clover, Leavitt C. Logan, Charles O'Neil, Royal B. Bradford and Charles H. Davis and Paymaster General Albert S. Kenny, all retired.

THE REAL TEST

Of Herpicide Is in Giving It a Thorough Trial.

There is only one test by which to judge of the efficiency of any article and that is by its ability to do that which it is intended to do. Many hair vigors may look nice and smell nice, but the point is—do they eradicate Dandruff and stop falling hair?

No, they do not, but Herpicide does, because it goes to the root of the evil and kills the germ that attacks the papilla from whence the hair gets its life.

Letters from prominent people everywhere are daily proving that Newbro's Herpicide stands the "test of use."

It is a delightful dressing, clear, pure and free from oil or grease.

Sold by leading druggists. Send 10c. in stamps for sample to The Herpicide Co., Detroit, Mich.

You Can Have a Model Kitchen as cool and white as a dairy. No smell, no smoke, no heat, no dust. No old-fashioned contrivances. The

New Perfection
WICK BLUE FLAME

is the latest practical, scientific cook-stove. It will cook the most elaborate dinner without heating the kitchen.

Boils, bakes, or roasts better than any range. Ready in a second. Extinguished in a second. Fitted with Cabinet Top, with collapsible rests, towel rack, and every up-to-date feature imaginable. You want it, because it will cook any dinner and not heat the room. No heat, no smell, no smoke, no coal to bring in, no ashes to carry out. It does away with the drudgery of cooking, and makes it a pleasure. Women with the light touch for pastry especially appreciate it, because they can immediately have a quick fire, simply by turning a handle. No half-hour preparation. It not only is less trouble than coal, but it costs less. Absolutely no smell, no smoke; and it doesn't heat the kitchen.

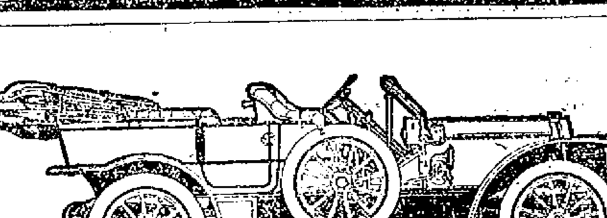

Cautionary Note: Be sure you get this stove—see that the name-plate reads "New Perfection."

The nickel finish, with the turquoise blue of the enameled chimneys, makes the stove ornamental and attractive. Made with 1, 2 and 3 burners; the 2 and 3-burner stoves can be had with or without Cabinet.

A want ad in the Daily News costs so little, when compared with the cost of non-tenanted property, that the owner merely acts as a self-protector in persistently using the To Let columns of the paper. Its readers are ad-readers; ad readers are ad answerers; ad answerers are doers of things, renters, buyers, etc. That is why your ad will find a tenant.

UP TO THE NEXT CONGRESS.

Bryan, on Eve of Sailing for Scotland, Makes Presidential Forecast.

NEW YORK, May 21.—It will be up to the next Congress to determine whether or not the next President shall be a Democrat, William J. Bryan believes. Mr. Bryan, who sailed today on steamer Celtic as a delegate at large from the United States to the international missionary conference in Scotland, had no hesitation in declaring his belief that the next Congress will be Democratic. His Presidential forecast was made just before he sailed. Judge George Gray of Delaware was a fellow-passenger with Mr. Bryan.

"If the next Congress, which I believe will be Democratic, with the members of the majority hailing largely from the West, makes a favorable record, in view of the Democratic gains at the last Presidential election, when 6,500,000 Democratic votes were polled, I believe that an additional million votes will be won, ensuring the election of a Democratic President" said Mr. Bryan. Mr. Bryan was non-committal as to personalities likely to figure in the race for the Democratic Presidential nomination. "As a matter of fact", he concluded, "a year must elapse before there can be any discussion of Presidential possibilities."

LIKE A FAN-TAILED PIGEON.

Comet Has Passed Far Beyond Earth, and Taken Appendage With It.

CARNEGIE OBSERVATORY, MT. WILSON, Cal., May 21.—To scientists at Carnegie observatory Halley's comet presented the appearance of a fan-tailed pigeon last night. The comet's appendage was spread out at the end through several degrees. Despite the bright moonlight, the tail appeared distinct. The comet set an hour and fifty minutes after the sun. Director Hale said last night's observations show that the comet has passed far beyond the earth and taken its tail with it.

TAIL VISIBLE IN THE EAST.

Seen in Mexico, but Clouds Block Harvard Observers' Attempts.

CAMBRIDGE, Mass., May 21.—Banks of heavy clouds blocked the attempts of the astronomers at Harvard observatory to obtain a view of Halley's comet or its appendage today. The professors believe that had the sky been clear they would have seen the tail in the eastern sky, as the many telegrams they have received from other astronomical observation stations lead them to think that the phenomenon which they witnessed yesterday morning was the comet's tail. The latest message came today from Tacubaya, Mexico, dated last night, which reads:

"Comet's tail visible today in the eastern sky.

"P. Vallo."

HAS COMET LOST ITS TAIL?

Depauw Professor Thinks So, and That It Is Generating New One.

CHICAGO, May 21.—The theory that Halley's comet has lost its old tail, which may be floating in space in the eastern sky, and is now generating a new one, was advanced by Rev. Daniel J. McHugh, professor of astronomy at Depauw University, today. The old tail was forced away from the comet by the force of electrical repulsion, caused by the sunspots which were so prominent Wednesday, he thinks.

"It is my opinion," said Professor McHugh, "that the comet lost its tail some time Wednesday night. There are records of its having done the same thing in 1835. I saw the comet in the west last night, and it had no tail. This strengthens my theory that it is now generating a new tail, which will become visible in a short time."

SABBATH OBSERVANCE.

Presbyterian General Assembly Settles Down to Work.

ATLANTIC CITY, N. J., May 21.—Another large number of papers and reports were handed up to the stated clerk today when the Presbyterian General Assembly settled down to work after the opening devotional exercises. The report of the committee on Sabbath observance says the progress made during the past year in creating the uniform demand for a weekly rest day has been more marked than ever before. The committee recommends that the General Assembly endorse the Saturday half-holiday, as tending to the better observance of the Sabbath; condemns the Sunday Newspaper, and requests educational institutions to omit recitations Monday mornings, so as to leave the Sabbath free from the necessity of some of the students to prepare their lessons on that day.

WORLD SUNDAY DAY.

Conference Held Between Delegates Appointed to Speak in Churches.

WASHINGTON, May 21.—The world's sixth Sunday School convention met in one great session again today, in convention hall, with President F. B. Meyer of London in the chair. The regular session was cut short to give time for a conference between those who have been appointed delegates to speak in the churches and Sunday Schools of Washington tomorrow. Tomorrow will be World Sunday day. In every Sunday School in the world in the Sunday School Union it will be observed.

At the morning session today William N. Hartshorn of Boston reported for the field in North America and Rev. S. D. Somer told of some of the needs of the work. Robert E. Speer spoke of "The Needs of the Mission Work Among Our Nearest Neighbors." Mr. Speer is secretary of the Presbyterian Board of Foreign Missions.

SATISFACTORY ADJUSTMENT.

Over 1,000 Telegraphers of Boston & Maine Road to be Raised.

BOSTON, May 21.—A complete and satisfactory adjustment of the wage scale for the 1,000 telegraphers of the Boston & Maine Railroad was announced today by General Superintendent C. E. Lee. Under the new scale the men will receive a raise averaging 7 per cent. There was also a readjustment of hours. The station agents who are not operators are to receive an increase of 25 cents a day as a rule, but others will have 50 cents additional. The operators at the North Station will receive an advance of 20 cents daily.

WILL NOT DISCUSS POLITICS.

Senator Root Will Not Talk on His Departure to The Hague.

NEW YORK, May 21.—"Cut that out; I am not going to talk politics," declared Senator Root to the newspaper men who asked him today on his departure to The Hague if he thought the Republican party was as strong today as it was a year ago. Accompanying Senator Root on steamer Lapland were lawyers from all over the United States to represent the country at the arbitration of the Northeastern fisheries dispute witht England, including Samuel J. Elder of Boston. Senator Root said he was not certain whether or not he would meet Colonel Roosevelt in Europe, but he hoped he would have the opportunity.

"BE WISE."

There is no time in the year 1910 that coal can be bought as low as at the present time, therefore it is good policy and true economy to lay in as much coal as will be needed through next winter.

Dollars Can be Saved by Doing So.

Besides saving money coal is in better condition during the months of June and July than at any other months of the year, and those that take advantage of the low prices and put in the winter coal NOW have the BEST coal and LOWEST prices of the year. Try some of the beautiful coal in the yards of

CONFEREES IN DEADLOCK.

House Members Declare They Will Not Consent to Amendments to Rivers and Harbors Bill.

The Senate and House conferees on the rivers and harbor appropriation bill are in a deadlock. Those on the part of the House have declared that they will not consent to amend items to the bill added in the Senate, aggregating about $1,000,000, for projects which have been disapproved by the District engineers, the board of review and the chief of engineers. The Senate is holding out, and while there are no signs of yielding it is hoped that they will give in, as House leaders frankly say their stubbornness will kill the bill.

About $10,000,000 was added to the bill by the Senate. All but about $1,000,000 of this amount is generally approved by the House managers. It represents provision for projects recommended by the engineers after the bill had been framed in the House committee. In addition to these projects some of the most influential Senators added to the bill appropriations for projects never stamped by federal approval. These projects are scattered widely from Rhode Island to Texas.

It has long been a rule of the House rivers and harbors committee not to include in that appropriation bill provision for projects not approved by the regularly constituted officers of the government. On this question they are willing to fight even if it means the defeat of the bill. It is believed that President Taft will veto the bill unless those Senate amendments are stricken out.

GERRY—TOWNSEND WEDDING.

Ceremony, Which Will be Performed at Bride's Home in Washington, to be Marked by Simplicity.

Cards have been issued for the marriage of Miss Mathilde Townsend and Mr. Peter Goelet Gerry of New York, May 26 at the home of Mrs. Richard Townsend, Miss Townsend's mother, in Washington. Contrary to the expectations of many of Miss Townsend's friends, the ceremony will be marked by the utmost simplicity. It will take place at noon.

In view of the fact that Miss Mary Harriman will be married at Arden, N. Y., on the same day to Mr. Charles Cary Rumsey, of Buffalo, it is expected that Mr. and Mrs. Robert L. Gerry, the latter a sister of Miss Harriman, will not be able to go to Washington for the wedding. It is reported that Miss Katherine Elkins, one of Miss Townsend's most intimate friends, will be her only attendant.

Mrs. Townsend probably will carry out her intention to spend the summer in Europe, but no announcement has been made as to the plans of Miss Townsend and Mr. Gerry.

PORTSMOUTH.

The Christian Temperance Union Surprises Mrs. Borden on Her Birthday Anniversary.

[Regular correspondence of The News.]

Friday afternoon the Portsmouth Women's Christian Temperance Union gave a surprise birthday party to Mrs. Ruth Borden, the oldest member of the union, who on that day became 75 years old. Her complexion is still fair and rosy, her eyes bright, there are only a few silver threads in her dark locks, and her steps are quick and her life active. A few years ago she celebrated her golden wedding. Since that time her husband, Mr. B. F. Borden, has died and after keeping house by herself for several years changes having been made in the real estate, she chose to have her younger son, Mr. Alonzo E. Borden, and family come to the homestead and make her home with them.

The Women's Christian Temperance Union members had invited a few relatives and friends to join them, and left the car at the previous white pole. The company numbered about 40 and had just reached the piazza as Mrs. Borden came to the door to go to the mail box, and her surprise was great to see the lawn so well filled. After the laying off of wraps and congratulations, a short program was given under the direction of the president, Mrs. Eunice Greene, as follows: Singing, "Nearer, My God to Thee;" repetition of the Shepherd's Psalm, in concert; prayer, Mrs. Samuel H. Hodges; solo, "Jesus Is All," Mrs. Edward B. Ayler, Mrs. Greene accompanist; congratulatory address by Mrs. Greene to Mrs. Borden; piano solo, Miss Helen W. Sisson; remarks by Mrs. Hodges, taking different passages of Scripture for their base and applying them to Mrs. Borden; solo, "He shall cover thee," by Mrs. Richard R. Macomber.

Just at this time Mrs. Borden was called to the door by the ringing of the bell. She found a handsome library waist paper basket filled to overflowing with parcels, besides many grouped around it. With eyes filled to overflowing she brought them in and sat down to take the wrappings off, while the company gathered around and enjoyed the pleasure of seeing her do it. The basket contained a gun metal watch chain with turquoise stones; napkins, a photograph of the house, large enough to frame; about a dozen handkerchiefs, from plain hemstitched to embroidered and lace trimmed; a large and handsomely bound book, "The Life of De Witt Talmage"; a booklet, "Lead, Kindly Light," illustrated; a book, "Daily Strength for Daily Needs"; a book, "Selections from the Works of Jeremy Taylor"; a booklet; a bouquet of white and red carnations and ferns, two bunches of violets, one of pansies and one of daffodils; three pairs of bath towels, a crocheted needle book in the form of a candle, a china cup and saucer, a fancy basket of peppermints, several boxes of chocolates, a box of cracking, a memorandum book with engraved silver covers, fancy soap, a doiley, a bottle of perfume, two lace collars a library basket, about 60 postal cards; two frosted fruit cakes, one bearing the dates in pink drops 1835-1910, and a china plate.

Crackers, cake, cocoa, and candy were served.

The whist and dance of the Sunshine Society at the town hall Friday evening, was a success. After two hours of whist the scene was changed to dancing. Miss Vera Harlow of Newport, pianist, until the 12 o'clock car took the gathering home. There were 14 tables of whist. Mrs. W. G. Albro, took the first prize for women, a Colonial glass dish, Mrs. Charles S. Sisson, the second, a pin cushion; Dr. Berton W. Storrs the first men's prize, a pack of cards, and Mr. Alfred Hall the second, a cup and saucer. Mrs. Walter Chase and Mr. Alfred J. Mott took the consolation prizes, a bow for the neck and a necktie respectively.

About 150 attended the drama, "Her Busy Day," given at St. Paul's guild house, Thursday evening.

That old landmark, Boyd's windmill, which had been discarded, has again been put in commission on account of the burning of the mill of Sheriff Anthony in Middletown, which was being used. Frank Boyd, the owner has repaired it and put on new sails. It requires eight, an unusual number.

Miss Elizabeth Greene of Stone Bridge entertained at dinner Friday in honor of the birthday of her mother, Mrs. Cornelius Greene. Her guests were Mrs. Potter of Providence, Mrs. Warton Sherman of Newport, Mrs. Joseph W. Greene of Portsmouth and Miss Agnes Church of Tiverton.

Mrs. Asa B. Allen of Central Village, Mass., is caring for her daughter, Mary, who is quite ill with consists at the home of her brother, James Matthews.

Mrs. Howard Thurston of Union street entertained recently her mother, Mrs. Edward C Faulkner.

Miss Ada Littlefield and Mr. George Sisson, who have been sick with mumps, are convalescing.

Mrs. John O. C. Peckham, who has been spending a week with her sister, Mrs. John R. Manchester, and family, has returned home.

Some malicious person last fall, broke off the top of nearly all the catalpa trees set along the sidewalk in front of "Oakland Farm." They were tied up at the time and an effort made to see if they would grow. Now the broken ones are being removed and new ones put in their place and enough more set out to make a line the entire length of the farm.

At "Sandy Point Farm" the drive through the woods is being laid out and work has been started on the roadway for the drive.

Captain John M. Brownell reports a successful week in the fishing line, the first of the week having caught 200 barrels in one day.

Mrs. George F. Rounds of Newport has been guest of Mr. and Mrs. Charles Grinnell.

Among those trying to raise turkeys are Mrs. W. E. Mott of the north part of the town and Mr. W. M. Carter. They are quite difficult to raise, even when they are well hatched.

Mr. and Mrs. Fred Benner and their son Russell, of Geneseo, Ill., have been guests of Mrs. Thomas Holman.

TWO GOOD EXHIBITIONS.

Parents' Day Held at Cranston School in the Afternoon and at Calvert in the Evening.

Parents' days were held Friday afternoon at the Cranston school and in the evening at the Calvert. At Cranston in the lower hall was the sewing exhibit of grades V and VI, Miss Sarah Mannel, and grade VII, Mrs. Harriet Stacy and the cooking exhibit of grades VI and VII, Miss Elizabeth Bosworth. Also on the first floor, in Miss Mary Hodgson's room, grade I, were seen illustrated stories and paper cuttings. In Miss Aylesworth's room, grade II, excellent illustrated bird stories and drawings, and in Miss E. C. Morrison's room, grade VI, particularly good illustrated booklets "What I should like to show to a friend in Newport," geography compositions, crayola work and sloyd, done under the direction of Mr. E. Miss Brownell showed directed envelopes, bound letters and excellent compositions on "Our Flag," while Miss Peckham had excellent individual clay images, Christmas and Liberty booklets, Whittier gem book and geography compositions.

The exhibit at Calvert was in the hall, which was attractive for the occasion with cut flowers. The kindergarten, Miss Julia Downing and Miss Lillian Pearson, showed screens well illustrating the autumn, winter and spring work. Pretty bookmarks made by the children were given as souvenirs to the parents. Grade I, Miss Eleanor Freeman, principal of the building, assisted by Miss Rowena MacLellan, showed best work envelopes decorated with cherries, excellent free-hand paper cuttings, text-books and the Aldine method of teaching to read.

Grade II, Miss Ethel Potter, showed paper cuttings of snowflakes, an attractive poster illustrating a storm after school, and the Walter system of teaching arithmetic. Grade III, Miss Edith Babcock, gem books, buttercup spelling books, tests and apple drawings, and Grade IV, Mrs. Elizabert Sterne, illustrated bird poems and scrap books to be sent to the Newport Hospital.

The industrial exhibit—sewing, cooking and sloyd—occupied the centre of the hall. The sewing, grades IV, V and VI, was done under the direction of Miss Sarah Manuel, and grade VIII under the direction of Mrs. Harriet Stacy; cooking, grades VI and VIII, of Miss Elizabeth Bosworth, and sloyd, grades VI and VIII, of Mr. Alfred Gatzenmeier. Many neatly made garments were seen, 28 tempting dishes attested skill in cooking, and manual skill was shown in the keyboards, brackets, flower stands, medicine racks, teapot stands, etc.

MIDDLETOWN.

Oliphant Club Meets at Newtown Free Library—Pound Party at Holy Cross Guild House.

[Regular correspondence of The News.]

Other social events occurring in the same neighborhood served to detract from the usual attendance at the meeting of the Oliphant Club, which was entertained Friday at the Newtown Free Library by the librarian, Miss Etta M. Shennan. The program, however, was of its usual interest. The subject, "Nature Study," with quotations from Thoreau was given as follows: Poetical selections by Wordsworth, referring to "Nature;" short readings by each member on the life of the poet-naturalist, Henry David Thoreau of Concord, as written by William Ellery Channing; odd verses selected from "Seaside and Wayside," by Julia MacNair Wright; selections from the "Rambler's Calendar" of William Hamilton Gibson, entitled "Sharp Eyes," given under the following topics: "The First Blossom," "Thong Hazel Pockets," "The Scouring-Grass and its Squirming Spores," "Poison Sumachs and Harmless Woodbine"; "Warbles," a story of a singing sparrow, from the book, "A Hermit's Wild Friends," by Mason Walton. In conclusion two poems were read, "Flowers," by Henry Wadsworth Longfellow, and "Daffodils" by William Wordsworth. The guests enjoyed the privilege of studying the interesting collection of pictures in the art room and in examining the books and magazines, with a view to availing themselves of its opportunities.

The usual laughable experiences were in evidence at the annual pound party given Friday evening at the Holy Cross guild house by the Junior Chapter of the Brotherhood of St Andrew. There was an attendance of about 75 and a good collection of "surprises" was sold by Mr. Henry I. Chase, netting quite a sum for the benefit of the summer outing of the Brotherhood. One of the most expensive articles sold (to the purchaser) was a small box of coal, at 45 cents, and the best purchase (for the money) a large flat box filled with home-made cookies, for 10 cents. Refreshments were sold by the boys, including cake, crackers and lemonade. The evening concluded with dancing, with Mrs. Alvin Simmons at the piano.

Mr. Pascal M. Conley is erecting a new blacksmith shop on the site of the one recently burned by the fire at the Anthony windmill on the West Main road. The building is nearly completed.

Mr. and Mrs. Gilbert Elliot and their daughter have been guests the past week of Mr. Elliot's parents, Mr. and Mrs. Alexander Elliot, on the West Main road.

Discarded railroad ties are being utilized by some of the farmers as fence posts and are giving substantial results.

ANNUAL HIGH SCHOOL DANCE.

The Senior Middle class of the Rogers High School gave the Seniors the annual dance Friday evening, and it proved a great success. Besides the members of the two classes, quite a number of outsiders were present to enjoy the good time. The committee in charge had decorated the hall in a pleasing manner, with a pretty arrangement of flags.

The entertainment committee was made up of Misses O'Hanley, Parsonage, Carry, Sullivan and Coffin, and Messrs. Brown, Greene, Harrington, Nolan and McLennan. The chaperons for the evening were Miss Franklin, Miss Counihan and Mrs. Gatzenmeier, and Messrs. Stevens, Morgan and Gatzenmeier.

During the evening refreshments were served by the members of the class of 1911. The music was furnished by Smith's orchestra.

ANNUAL CONFERENCE JUNE 1.

Officers of Service to Meet at War College for Discussion of Formation of War Plans.

[Army and Navy Journal.]

The annual conference at the Naval War College will open June 1. The Assistant Secretary of the Navy will make the opening address, and the course to be followed by the conference will be generally the same as that of preceding years.

As is well known, the purpose of the conference is to bring the officers of the service together at the War College for the purpose of discussing questions upon which service opinion has not been fully formulated; to benefit by a course of lectures, which are delivered by officers in the service, and others, specialists in their own line; and to take part in the strategic and tactical games for which there are few facilities elsewhere and for which the college is peculiarly equipped. One of the objects of the college is the formulation of war plans, from an academic point of view, for any possible contingency that might arise. These plans, in part, are often played out by the committees as map or chart manoeuvres, which gives an idea, after discussion, as to the adequacy of the plan.

The tactical game board also offers facilities for trying out various tactical manoeuvres and gives experience in estimating the value of formations, which could not be had in any way short of very extensive manoeuvres in the field or war itself; all of which is valuable in enabling officers readily to decide that certain manoeuvres which may have been discussed without sufficient information or study may be at once discarded and that those which remain seem to promise desirable results, but which, of course, in the end, can only be deferred for decision to occasions of actual war.

A feature of the course for many years has been the international law lectures and discussions. The annual publication of the college containing the results of these discussions is much in demand, and has been held in high authority at recent Hague and London conferences.

FAVORED BY SECRETARY MEYER.

Paymaster General Rogers to Apply for Retirement Before Tendering Resignation.

Secretary of the Navy Meyer has made it known that Paymaster General E. B. Rogers will make application for retirement before he tenders his resignation as chief of the bureau of supplies and accounts. This plan has been agreed upon and is favorably considered by Mr. Meyer. It is probable that Mr. Rogers will not make his application for retirement until Congress has finished with the amendment to the naval bill introduced in the Senate, which provides extra pay for bureau chiefs, and would permit him to retire with the same pay which he now receives as an officer on the active list. Mr. Rogers's corps continues steadfastly to endorse his work from the time he entered the service, 31 years ago, until his recent disagreement with Secretary Meyer.

POLICE NOTES.

The police report this morning comprised two drunks, both of whom were committed for lack of funds.

Chief Manchester was in with a prisoner from Tiverton, charged with rape on a married woman, both being Tivertonians. He pleaded not guilty and was held in default of $2,000 bail.

The woman who went overboard at the Forty Steps Friday is still at the hospital. There seems to be nothing special the trouble with her, except perhaps the shock of her bath and taking in more salt water than she needed.

PICKED UP OFF BLOCK ISLAND.

Balloon Sent Up From Pittsfield May Aid in Study of Effect of the Comet Upon the Air.

The question of whether or not Halley's comet had any effect upon the air currents above the earth may be determinable by an experimental balloon which was picked up at sea about three miles east of Block Island late Friday.

The balloon was sent up from Pittsfield, Mass., May 15, at 5 o'clock in the afternoon. No reports from it had been received until it was discovered yesterday off Block Island by Captain E. M. Ball. The balloon will be placed in a box and sent immediately to the Blue Hill observatory.

Captain Ball found a postal card in the balloon, but owing to its having been soaked in the salt water, the writing was not discernable.
